CARSON CITY NEVADA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 5, 1933

NUMBER 150

RADIO CONCERT TO BE GIVEN IN OPEN AIR

The first radio concert ever given from an automobile will be held in this city tomorrow night at the civic center. The concert will be one of many given in towns and cities on the Lincoln highway between Detroit and the Coast.

Wallace Blood, an expert amateur radio operator, accompanied by Mrs. Blood and Wm. Heinz and family, arrived in this city yesterday. The party went to Lake Tahoe today, but will return tomorrow in time for the opening of the concert at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Blood states that he has had only three failures on the tour, due to local conditions. He expects that the concert in this city will be a complete success, as he carries one of the most powerful receiving sets ever made. It will be necessary to erect an aerial, as the aerial carried on the sedan is only capable of receiving messages under seventy-five miles.

The tour is of great value in radio work, as it is the first time that an exact study of the science has been made under all conditions. At Ely, Nevada, all efforts to pick up messages were futile, as have been the efforts of citizens of that place who have installed private sets. It is thought that the immense mineral deposits in the district have an influence on the waves that prevent their being caught by receiving apparatus.

Tomorrow evening programs will be picked up from stations all along the Coast. The concert will be heard at a distance of several blocks from the car if conditions are favorable.

NO RIFLE MATCHES PLANNED THIS YEAR

There will be no national rifle matches this year to which Nevada could send a civilian team as in the past several years, according to word received by Adjutant-General Maurice J. Sullivan from the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice.

The information was contained in the following letter.

"It is keenly regretted that announcement must be made that there are no funds with which civilian rifle teams may be sent to the 1922 national matches. The sum which has heretofore been available for this purpose, reduced somewhat by the house committee, was entirely eliminated by the senate committee. Only a small amount was restored to the appropriation bill by the conferees, none of which can be used for sending civilian teams to the matches."

INDIAN CHIEF ADVERTISES

T. J. BROWNE DIES; WAS CARSON PIONEER

T. J. Browne, another of the vanguard which braved the dangers of the early-day West, died at his home in this city yesterday morning following a stroke of apoplexy.

He was out auto riding Sunday, but was taken ill Monday night and grew weaker until the stroke and death came.

Born in Massachusetts seventy-nine years and ten months ago, he left his home when nineteen years of age and reached Nevada in 1862 after a short stay in California. He has lived in this vicinity ever since.

A wife, formerly Janet Van Sickle of Carson Valley, survives.

Funeral services will take place on Friday morning at ten o'clock from the late residence on South Fall street. Burial will be in this city.

"FOOLISH WIVES" WINS APPROVAL AT GRAND

Persons looking for thrills and realism in pictures had their fill last night at the local premiere of "Foolish Wives," the million-dollar photodrama at the Grand Theatre. Fire scenes without equal form one of the punches of this elaborate picture of Monte Carlo, its pleasures and its vices. Another very forceful episode of the production concerns a U. S. Marine on leave at Monte Carlo which at first causes the audience to form an unfavorable opinion of his chivalry but upon learning the real state of affairs brings pity and applause. Erich von Stroheim, author, star, and director of "Foolish Wives" gives a remarkable characterization of a scoundrel Russian, masquerading at Monte Carlo as a count, who jauntily pursues his way through the story victimizing foolish women by his "he-vamp" methods. He is ably supported by a strong cast of unusually clever artists. "Foolish Wives" was very well received last night and will conclude its engagement here with the performance tonight at 8:00 p.m.

RENO'S FOURTH WAS AN ORDERLY AFFAIR

Viewed through the eyes of the police, Reno's Fourth of July celebration was an orderly affair, the Journal states.

Four booked as intoxicated, two for disorderliness, two for fighting and one for carrying a concealed weapon constituted the offenses up to a late hour last night.

Jack O'Keith and Tom O'Brien came to blows after an argument on Commercial row and both were arrested. O'Keith was released on $10 bail and O'Brien, who is said to have been the aggressor, was required to place a bail of $20 to insure his appearance.

One robbery was reported to the police. A room in a hotel was entered and numerous articles of jewelry were taken.

MINING EXCHANGE IS CLOSED FOR VACATION

There will be no call on the San Francisco mining exchange until July 10. With the closing of business on Saturday noon the brokers found themselves at liberty to enjoy a vacation of ten days. The vacation should work to the betterment of the stock market in general, and with the next call on July 10, more strength should manifest itself touching on several listed issues, brokers believe.

RENO DEFEATS SPARKS; YERINGTON IS LOSER

Reno eliminated Sparks as a contender for local baseball honors yesterday at Reno by defeating the railroaders, 10 to 5.

Effective hitting by the Renos in the second and costly errors by Sparks in the third contributed largely to the strikers' defeat. Sparks defeated Yerington Sunday by a score of nine to eight.

HIS MOTHER ILL

In answer to word received advising him of his mother's illness, Charles Smoot, left Sunday night for Mounds, Okla. Mrs. Smoot suffered a stroke of paralysis and little hope is held out for her recovery.

ATTEMPT TO BURN MINE ON COMSTOCK

Straw Is Discovered Near Blaze at Collar of Mint Shaft, Middle Mines Ventilator

VIRGINIA CITY, July 5.—(Special to the Appeal).—Fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, was discovered in the Mint shaft, southeast of here, this morning by Eugene Segale, who was on his way to work at a nearby mine.

The Mint, a downcast ventilating shaft for the underground work in the Middle Mines, is surrounded by a ten-foot fence and because the smoke was going down the shaft and but little rising it was just by chance that the blaze was discovered.

Straw was found at the collar of the shaft and on a few timber sets below the surface. The blaze, started at the collar, had almost consumed two sets of large timbers and was working its way downward. There is no sagebrush or other inflammable material near the Mint and the finding of the straw adds strength to the theory that the fire was started intentionally. It is believed the fire has been smoldering for the past two or three days.

The Virginia fire department was called by Segale and the blaze was soon extinguished. The work of retimbering was started immediately and no interruption in the diamond drilling operations underground followed.

No reason for any acts of incendiarism at the Mint could be ascribed by mine officials. County officers are now conducting an investigation.

TOURISTS PROTEST AGAINST VICTORY ROUTE

It is not often that the newspapers of the "north of the lake route" will open their columns to protests of tourists, but several portions of the road in Elko and Humboldt counties are in such deplorable condition that even the local papers have taken cognizance of the fact. The following is from the Winnemucca Silver State:

"A kick delivered in an unusual manner was entered at the chamber of commerce rooms to Secretary Grady by a tourist from California on his way to Denver, who found the roads not to his liking. He breezed into the office declaring that the roads in the vicinity of Lovelock had been misrepresented to him by different people and commercial organizations throughout his route and that he thought that some steps should be taken to not only stop this false representation of the good condition of the highways, but that some work should be done to better these conditions.

His main kick was of the detour just this side of Lovelock which, he claims, is all but impassable. He suggested that the secretary of the chamber of commerce with a few of the business men attempt to cross only a portion of this detour and that he was sure steps would be taken to make a shorter and better one or to speed up completion of this section of highway which is now under repairs. He stated he was not a knocker and always tried to say a good word where possible, but that unless something was done toward betterment of this section of the highway within a few days it would be entirely impassable and would cost the county many thousands of dollars through propaganda spread by tourists who have wrecked their cars in attempting to negotiate the bad stretch.

He said his reason for going to the chamber of commerce was that he believed in registering his kicks where they would do the most good.

He was assured by Secretary Grady that he would take steps immediately to not only investigate the conditions of this particularly bad stretch but would try to see that an effort was made to better the condition."

U. S. SURVEYORS WORK IN HUMBOLDT COUNTY

E. C. L. Voigt of Reno, head of a party of seven surveyors at work surveying public lands in the Leonard Creek vicinity, is spending a few days in Winnemucca, says the Humboldt Star. Mr. Voigt recites that the surveys now being carried on at Leonard Creek are at the instance of the general land office and that a month will be given to that district, after which activities will be transferred to the Denio district. Considerable difficulty is being experienced by the party, said Mr. Voigt, in re-establishing the corner of sections already surveyed up north, where the last preceding survey was made in 1873. Time has practically obliterated all signs of the work of a half century ago, according to Voigt making the tasks in hand at this time more difficult of accomplishment.

OPEN REST ROOM FOR WOMEN IN CARSON

A women's restroom on the ground floor of the county courthouse has been fitted out by the county commissioners and was opened today. The room is located on the southern end of the building.

Mirrors, chairs, tables and a dressing room are part of the outfit for the comfort of women, and it will be kept open continuously from now on.

The board of commissioners at a meeting this morning ordered that a light in front of the building be lowered on the porch to give more effective lighting.

Monthly bill were allowed by the board.

WRIT IS ISSUED IN WATER CASE

A writ of prohibition was issued by the state supreme court today in the case of Giovanni Bottini vs. Louis Mongolo and others. The writ was made returnable July 15.

The case arose from an attempt of the latter to charge $14 for water used from a canal east of Reno. The former charge had been $7.50 and the Nevada public service commission allowed an increase to $9.

Attorneys McCarran and Mashburn secured the writ.
